The Will to Survive: Dealing with the Aftermath of Trauma - Dr. Bobby E Smith

Bobby Smith, Ph.D., discusses with a unique blend of seriousness and humor, how to deal with the tragedies of life. All of us experience the unfortunate reality of emotional and physical losses. Dr. Smith teaches the importance of not taking a single day or person for granted. He further explains how we learn as children that big boys don't cry and that to ask for help is a sign of weakness. This results in the accumulation of stress, grief and loss that we may be unwilling and sometimes unable to process. Dr. Smith explains that we may choose to store the pain in what he refers to as "dead ducks in the closet". However, avoiding or suppressing emotions does not mean they go away. Traumatic events often take their toll on one's physical, mental, and emotional health, as well as impacting relationships and careers. Learn how to avoid these pitfalls.

2.5 hours – General Session Wednesday

SB 367 Update – Judge Delia York, Laura Brewer and Stephanie Springer

Judge York, and Chief CSOs Brewer and Springer will discuss the new Juvenile Justice legislation, how it effects Court Services and the implementation process being undertaken by OJA and other agencies.

3.0 hours – Thursday, all morning

Understanding Eating Disorders – Dr. Michael Boniello

This workshop is designed to assist participants in understanding the underlying social, psychological and physiological dynamics and symptoms of the major eating disorders which include anorexia, bulimia and obesity. On the continuum from anorexia to obesity, the process of withholding the intake of food versus overindulging in food will be examined and leading theories as to why the taking in of food (which should be reserved for nourishment) can become a major pathological coping process and eventually a devastating disorder for both the individual and his/her loved ones. In addition, participants will also be given information regarding treatment options and resources available to assist in helping their clientele learn to separate their emotional issues from food intake and lead more effective lives.

3.0 hours, Thursday, all morning

Post Imprisonment Supervision (PIS) and DUI Supervision Roundtable – Gregory Benefiel, Aaron Breitenbach and Ann Henderson

Representatives from the Kansas Attorney General Traffic Resource Safety Unit, the Sedgwick County District Attorney's Office and Johnson County District Attorney's Office will discuss the following: What is it? Who does it apply to? When does it start and stop? What happens when defendants violate?

1.5 hours, Thursday, early morning

Scenario Based Training through use of MILO Range – Joel Cromwell, Brandon “Scott” Phillips, Scott Jones and Mike Clark

Reality based training (scenarios) significantly enhances an officer’s ability to mentally rehearse situations. It leads to more accurate and appropriate decision making, and reduces the time it takes to process information and decide on a response.

This training session will allow participants to experience scenario training in a controlled environment through the use of MILO training simulator. Participants will team up in pairs and run through a couple of scenarios. Teams will be asked to use verbal de-escalation, positioning, and other possible tools such as flashlight, OC, and a firearm. Following each scenario, participants will debrief with an instructor to get feedback on what was done well and what could be improved.

As teams go through scenario training, those not engaged in the scenario will be taught hands-on defensive/control tactics.

1.5 hours, Thursday, four (4) sessions, early morning, late morning, early afternoon and late afternoon

LIMIT OF 8 PARTICIPANTS PER SESSION

Managing a Multi-Generational Workforce – Catherine Lineaweaver

As more and more Baby Boomers retire, we are seeing significant changes in our work force. Generation X'ers and the seniority, but are often not willing to move into vacated leadership positions. Meanwhile, the Millennials are presenting unique challenges to managers who have not yet accepted the generational differences.

3.0 hours, Friday morning

Silent stress of caregivers: Understanding the cause and begin the healing of Compassion Fatigue – Stacey Hall

Apathy, isolation, bottled up emotions and substance abuse are all possible symptoms associated with secondary traumatic stress also known as Compassion Fatigue. Many professionals often experience pain and suffering associated with day to day care giving of others because of the ongoing experience of secondary trauma. Learning to recognize and manage symptoms can greatly reduce the preoccupation and stress involved with the emotional and often physical demands made throughout the care giving process. Education and consistent practice of important self-care activities can help manage this stress and greatly improve the quality of life for most caregivers.

Objectives include:

1. Participants will be able to define and describe common symptoms of compassion fatigue.
2. Participants will self-assess and identify possible secondary trauma events within their circle of clients.
3. Participants will identify and develop three realistic self-care tasks to incorporate within their current lifestyle.
